THE GRAND JURY CHARGES:

Dick's Sporting Goods and Defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR.

1. At all times relevant to this indictment, Dick's Sporting Goods, Inc., [hereinafter "Dick's"] was a chain of retail sporting goods stores. Dick's was incorporated in Delaware and had its corporate headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Dick's became a publicly traded company in October 2002.
2. Defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. was Dick's Senior Vice President of Real Estate from on or about February 28, 1999, until his resignation, which became effective in or about February 2005. His duties included locating sites for new Dick's stores and entering into agreements with landlords, real estate developers, and others for the development of new Dick's stores.
3. Dick's standard practice for developing and opening new stores was to enter into long-term leases with the owners or real estate developers of the stores. Among other things, defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. was involved in negotiating the terms of lease contracts for new Dick's stores.
4. As a Senior Vice President at Dick's, defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. owed fiduciary duties to Dick's. Some of those duties were articulated in a Dick's "Code of Business Conduct and Ethics," issued on or about January 21, 2004, which provided, among other things, that:
  - a. Dick's associates, officers, and directors "are responsible for abiding by. . . all local and national laws in all states . . . in which the Company does business."

- b. Dick's associates, officers, and directors "must be free of any actual or perceived conflict of interest to assure that [such associates, officers, and directors] are best able to exercise independent judgment with regard to the Company's best interests."
  - c. Conflicts of interest arise when associates, officers, or directors "have a direct or indirect interest in, or relationship with, any organization or individual that may disrupt [Dick's] or affect . . . objectivity and independent judgment or conduct in carrying out . . . duties and responsibilities."
  - d. Dick's associates, officers, and directors were prohibited from "work[ing] or receiv[ing] compensation or other consideration for services from any supplier, vendor, distributor, landlord or competitor of the Company or any business entity that does or seeks to do business with the Company unless prior written approval is provided by the Director of Legal."
5. Under the law of Delaware, the state in which Dick's was incorporated, corporate officers were not permitted to use their positions of trust and confidence to further their private interests. As fiduciaries of a corporation, officers were required to refrain from doing anything that would work injury to the corporation, or to deprive it of profit or advantage.

Defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI

6. At all times relevant to this indictment, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI was an attorney licensed to practice law in the state of Pennsylvania. At various times, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI practiced law in Pittsburgh within a law practice known as "The Viloski Law Firm"; as a partner in law firm with the initials "DKW"; and as one of the founders and principals of the law firm "Shopping Center Law Associates" [hereinafter "SCLA"]. Defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI founded SCLA in the fall of 2000.

7. Defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI, acting through the above-named law firms, represented Dick's as an attorney in real estate matters, including the development of new Dick's stores.

Defendant GARY GOSSON

8. At all times relevant to this indictment, defendant GARY GOSSON, also known as "Goose" [hereinafter "GARY GOSSON"], was a friend of defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. At all times relevant to this indictment, defendant GARY GOSSON resided in the Northern District of New York.

Defendant GARY CAMP

9. At all times relevant to this indictment, defendant GARY CAMP was a friend of defendant GARY GOSSON.

The Scheme to Defraud By Requiring, Receiving, and Concealing Kickback Payments ["The Kickback Scheme"]

10. From approximately 1998 through approximately February 2005, in the Northern District of New York and elsewhere, defendants JOSEPH QUERI, JR., BENJAMIN VILOSKI, and GARY GOSSON, and others known and unknown, devised and executed a scheme and artifice to defraud Dick's and various landlords, real estate developers, investors, property owners, and others involved in the development of new Dick's stores, and to obtain money and property, and to deprive Dick's of potentially valuable economic information that could impact on its economic decisions, and its intangible right of the honest services of its employees and officers. Defendants JOSEPH QUERI, JR., BENJAMIN VILOSKI, and GARY GOSSON, and others known and unknown, executed that scheme in part by use of the United States mail, private and commercial interstate carriers, and interstate wire communications.

11. Defendants JOSEPH QUERI, JR., BENJAMIN VILOSKI, and GARY GOSSON, and others known and unknown, executed the kickback scheme in part as follows:

- a. As part of agreements for the development of new Dick's stores, defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR., acting as Dick's representative, and defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI, acting as Dick's attorney, broker, or consultant, required that one or more businesses involved in each development project, including landlords, real estate developers, investors, and property owners, pay a substantial consulting or brokerage commission to an entity that defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. and/or defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI identified as a consultant or broker for Dick's.
- b. Defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. and/or defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI often identified one of the businesses described below – Retail Development Network, Inc.; a company with the initials "LRC"; Reinman Realty, LLC; Reinman Properties, LLC; or Shopping Center Real Estate – as well as defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI's law firm, SCLA, as a consultant or broker for Dick's that was to receive a substantial commission payment.
- c. In reality, as defendants JOSEPH QUERI, JR. and BENJAMIN VILOSKI knew, in some cases, the "consultant" or "broker" that one or both of them identified did little or no actual consulting or brokerage work in connection with the development of the new Dick's store to earn the required payment. In some instances, the identified "consultant" or "broker" submitted an invoice demanding payment in connection with a Dick's new store development project even though it had done no work on that project.

- d. Rather, the "consultant" or "broker" served as a "front" for defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. When the identified consultant or broker serving as a front received the commission payment that had been required as part of the Dick's new store development project, it passed some or all of the money on to defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. by writing a check made payable to or sending a wire transfer to either defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. or to Queri Properties, LLC, a company that defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. controlled. Although Dick's did not know about or approve these payments, defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. kept the money that he received from the kickback scheme.
- e. Use of these businesses as fronts concealed and disguised from Dick's and others the kickback scheme, the nature, location, ownership, and control of the proceeds of the kickback scheme, and that much of the money required as consulting and brokerage commissions was to be received by defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR., in violation of his fiduciary obligations to Dick's.

Kickback Payments

- 12. From approximately 1998 through approximately February 2005, defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. was involved in conduct resulting in approximately $2 million in kickback payments related to the development of approximately 27 new Dick's stores.

13. From approximately 1998 through approximately 2005, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI was involved in conduct resulting in over $1.2 million in kickback payments related to the development of approximately 22 new Dick's stores.
14. From approximately 2003 through approximately 2005, defendant GARY GOSSON was involved in conduct resulting in over $800,000.00 in kickback payments related to the development of approximately 12 new Dick's stores.

Businesses Used in the Kickback Scheme

Retail Development Network, Inc.

15. From approximately 1997 to approximately 2003, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI was a principal of a real estate consulting company called "Retail Development Network, Inc." [hereinafter "RDNI"]. From approximately 1999 to approximately 2003, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI was the sole owner of RDNI.
16. Defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI maintained a bank account for RDNI. From approximately 1999 through approximately 2003, as part of the kickback scheme and to conceal the scheme, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI used the RDNI bank account to receive purported consulting and brokerage commissions related to the development of new Dick's stores and to pass most of that money on to defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR.
17. In approximately 2002, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI caused the creation of fraudulent RDNI invoices that were submitted to a real estate broker and a real estate developer to assist defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. to obtain illegal kickback payments related to the development of new Dick's stores and to conceal the true nature of those payments.

Company with the Initials "LRC"

18. In 2003, defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. caused a company with the initials LRC [hereinafter "LRC"] to create fraudulent invoices that were submitted to a real estate developer to assist defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. to obtain illegal kickback payments related to the development of new Dick's stores and to conceal the true nature of those payments. In 2003, as part of the kickback scheme and to conceal the scheme, purported consulting commissions related to the development of new Dick's stores were received and deposited into a LRC bank account. Shortly thereafter, all of the money from those deposits was passed on to defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR.

Reinman Realty, LLC and Reinman Properties, LLC

19. In approximately 2003 through 2005, defendant GARY GOSSON was the principal of purported real estate businesses named Reinman Realty, LLC and Reinman Properties, LLC. Those businesses listed an address on Reinman Road in Syracuse, New York as their business address. That address was the residence of defendant GARY GOSSON. Defendant GARY GOSSON did not have a real estate broker's license.
20. Defendant GARY GOSSON maintained separate bank accounts for Reinman Realty, LLC and Reinman Properties, LLC. The Reinman Realty, LLC bank account was at Solvay Bank, located in the Northern District of New York. Checks and deposit tickets issued on the Reinman Realty bank account sometimes bore the name "Reinman Properties, LLC." The Reinman Properties, LLC bank account was at a branch of Charter One Bank located in the Northern District of New York.

21. From approximately 2003 through 2005, as part of the kickback scheme and to conceal the scheme, defendant GARY GOSSON used the Reinman Realty, LLC and Reinman Properties, LLC bank accounts to receive purported consulting commissions related to the development of new Dick's stores and to pass most of that money on to defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR.

22. In approximately 2004, defendant GARY GOSSON caused the creation of fraudulent Reinman Properties, LLC invoices that were submitted to real estate developers to assist defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. to obtain illegal kickback payments related to the development of new Dick's stores and to conceal the true nature of those payments.

Shopping Center Real Estate, Inc.

23. Beginning in 2003, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI was a principal of a real estate brokerage company called "Shopping Center Real Estate, Inc." [hereinafter "SCRE"]. SCRE operated from inside defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI's law firm, SCLA.

24. Defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI maintained a bank account for SCRE. From approximately 2003 through 2005, as part of the kickback scheme and to conceal the scheme, defendant BENJAMIN VILOSKI used the SCRE bank account to receive brokerage commissions related to the development of new Dick's stores and to pass a portion of that money on by writing checks made payable to Reinman Realty, LLC. Defendant GARY GOSSON then deposited the checks into the Reinman Realty, LLC bank account and the Reinman Properties, LLC bank account and passed most of that money on to defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR.

Queri Properties, LLC

25. Queri Properties, LLC was a business operated by defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. Defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. maintained bank accounts in the name of Queri Properties, LLC. He deposited some payments from the kickback scheme into those bank accounts and used one such account to receive wire transfers constituting kickback payments.

The Tender Offer for Shares of Galyan's Trading Company

26. In early 2004, Dick's management decided to attempt to acquire a rival sporting goods company called "Galyan's Trading Company, Inc." [hereinafter "Galyan's"]. In 2004, Galyan's was a publicly traded company. Its stock traded on the NASDAQ stock exchange under the trading symbol "GLYN."
27. The planned acquisition of Galyan's took the form of a cash "tender offer." A tender offer is a process by which an acquiring company, like Dick's, offers to purchase most or all of the shares of stock of a target company, like Galyan's, at a premium.
28. During the spring of 2004, Dick's management took substantial steps toward the planned Galyan's tender offer, including one or more meetings between directors and officers from Dick's and Galyan's.
29. On June 21, 2004, after the close of the stock markets, Dick's announced a tender offer for Galyan's stock. After the announcement, the price of Galyan's stock increased by approximately 50%.

Defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR.'s Access to Information About the Galyan's Tender Offer and His Obligation Not to Disclose Such Information

30. As Dick's Senior Vice President of Real Estate, defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. was kept informed of Dick's plan to acquire Galyan's by tender offer, Dick's progress toward the tender offer, and the timing of the anticipated tender offer and its announcement. He also was made aware that all information concerning the proposed tender offer and its timing was confidential, nonpublic information that should not be disclosed.
31. Dick's Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, issued on or about January 21, 2004, required "its associates, officers and directors to comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations, including insider trading." It also stated that "[i]t is . . . generally illegal to communicate ('to tip') material, nonpublic information to others so that they may trade in securities on the basis of that information." It explained that such conduct was commonly referred to as "insider trading" and made clear that such conduct could result in civil and criminal fines and prosecution.
32. Dick's also had a "Statement of Policy on Insider Trading," which provided in part that "[i]t is . . . generally illegal to communicate ('to tip') material, nonpublic information to others so that they may trade in securities on the basis of that information." The policy listed examples of "material information," including "possible mergers, acquisitions, joint ventures and other purchases . . . of companies . . ." and stated that "[i]nformation is considered to be nonpublic unless it has been effectively disclosed to the public."

33. The "Statement of Policy on Insider Trading" further stated that "[w]hen you know material information about Dick's Sporting Goods that has not been made public (i.e. nonpublic information), you are prohibited from . . . disclosing the information to anyone else who might then trade."

The Scheme to Disclose Material, Nonpublic Information Concerning the Galyan's Tender Offer to Tippees Who Traded on the Stock ["The Insider Trading Scheme"]

34. In approximately 2004, in the Northern District of New York and elsewhere, defendants JOSEPH QUERI, JR. and GARY GOSSON, and others known and unknown, willfully used and employed a manipulative and deceptive device and contrivance in connection with the purchase or sale of a security registered on a national securities exchange by the use of means and instrumentalities of interstate commerce and of the mails, and facilities of a national securities exchange, all in contravention of regulations that the Securities and Exchange Commission prescribed as necessary and appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors, by causing and aiding and abetting the purchase and sale of Galyan's stock on the basis of material nonpublic information about that stock, in breach of a duty of trust and confidence that was owed directly, indirectly, and derivatively to Dick's, the source of the material nonpublic information.
35. Defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. and GARY GOSSON, and others known and unknown, executed the insider trading scheme in part as follows:
- a. Defendant JOSEPH QUERI, JR. disclosed Dick's plan to acquire Galyan's and the anticipated timing of Dick's tender offer announcement to defendant GARY GOSSON and to a Queri relative in Las Vegas, Nevada. Defendant

JOSEPH QUERI, JR. did so in order to enable defendant GARY GOSSON and the Queri relative in Las Vegas, Nevada to disclose the information to others [hereinafter "the Gosson tippees" and "the Las Vegas tippees"] so that the Gosson tippees and the Las Vegas tippees could profit by purchasing Galyan's stock before the tender offer announcement and then selling the stock after the tender offer had been announced.

- b. Defendant GARY GOSSON disclosed Dick's plan and the anticipated timing of the Galyan's tender offer to the Gosson tippees, who were his friends and associates, including defendant GARY CAMP and Gosson Tippees #1 through #5. The Queri relative in Las Vegas disclosed Dick's plan and the anticipated timing of the Galyan's tender offer to the Las Vegas tippees.
- c. The Gosson tippees, including defendant GARY CAMP and Gosson Tippees #1 through #5, and the Las Vegas tippees all purchased shares of Galyan's stock shortly before the tender offer announcement and sold the stock after the share price increased following the tender offer announcement.
- d. In addition to the Galyan's stock that defendant GARY CAMP purchased for himself, defendant GARY GOSSON arranged to have defendant GARY CAMP purchase shares of Galyan's stock for defendant GARY GOSSON before the tender offer announcement. After the tender offer announcement, defendant GARY CAMP returned defendant GARY GOSSON's original investment to him, along with a trading profit.
- e. Defendant GARY GOSSON arranged to receive and did receive a share of the trading profits that Gosson Tippee #2 and Gosson Tippee #5 made by acting on defendant GARY GOSSON's disclosure, purchasing Galyan's stock before the tender offer announcement, and then selling after the price of Galyan's stock increased following the tender offer announcement.

Profits from the Insider Trading Scheme

36. The combined profit that the Gosson Tippees, including defendant GARY CAMP and Gosson Tippees #1 through #5, made by purchasing Galyan's stock shortly before the tender offer announcement and selling the Galyan's stock shortly after the announcement was approximately $274,613.00.
37. The combined profit that the Las Vegas Tippees made by purchasing Galyan's stock shortly before the tender offer announcement and selling or tendering the Galyan's stock shortly after the announcement was approximately $105,648.00.
